

David J. Siegel
Chief Technology Officer
Who's Represented in Real Estate

Career Highlights:

David currently manages the technology arm of Who's Represented in Real Estate. Known as an "outside the box" thinker, David drives all of the WR technology decisions, development methodologies, and strategies.

David's Tech Consulting and IT experience over the past 20 years includes telecommunications, energy, health care and financial sectors.

Most recently, David has been consulting with Optum and United Healthgroup. His approach to all projects involves full development lifecycle involvement.

Education:

David received a bachelor's degree in Computer Science from the University of Maryland, College Park.

Years in Real Estate Industry:

~3